ADVANCED LEGAL TOPICS I 771 – Transformative Works and Copyright Fair Use (1 hour)
One of the most challenging areas of intellectual property law to practice involves copyright’s fair use doctrine. This mini-seminar is designed to inspire spirited class debates on the existing fair use precedent and how it should be applied to the proliferation of transformative works encouraged by today’s Internet society. This course will examine well-known parodies like SNL and Weird Al’s songs; mashups like those done by the artist Girl Talk; music sampling; Internet memes; and fanworks including fanvids, fanart, and fanfiction. Students should be prepared to engage in enthusiastic discussion and to bring their own examples of transformative works to class with them. The class will meet 6 times for 2 hours each on weekday evenings over the course of the semester.

ADVANCED LEGAL TOPICS II 772 – Science Fiction and Law II (1 hour)
Many of the great works of science fiction deal with law in its various guises, some directly, others indirectly. In particular, science fiction offers a unique perspective to address issues relating to contemporary problems in law and society. This mini-seminar will explore some of the major themes of science fiction as they relate to law, including armed conflict, bioengineering, and climate change. Course materials will include short stories, graphic novels, novels, episodes from science fiction TV shows and movies. The class will meet 6 times for 2 hours each over the course of the semester.

ADVANCED LEGAL TOPICS III 773 – Justice Antonin Scalia’s Jurisprudence and Legal Philosophy (1 hour)
Justice Antonin Scalia has been one of the most influential Justices in Supreme Court history—a characterization shared by those who embrace and those who revile his jurisprudence. Two related terms are central to Justice Scalia’s jurisprudential legacy: “textualism” (for statutory interpretation) and “originalism” (for constitutional interpretation). As Justice Elena Kagan’s famous tribute to Justice Scalia put it, “we are all textualists now” because of him. And while originalism has many critics, that methodology’s ascendancy is reflected in cases like District of Columbia v. Heller, where Justice Scalia’s majority opinion and Justice Stevens’s dissent debated on originalist terrain, reaching opposite conclusions, but deploying similar methodology. Because Justice Scalia’s influence is enduring on the current Supreme Court and in courts across the country, students can benefit greatly from a more systematic analysis of his legal thought. Because Justice Scalia was such a witty and entertaining writer and speaker, students reading his work can take pleasure in the exercise. This short course, taught by one of Justice Scalia’s former law clerks, will use the recently published “The Essential Scalia,” along with a few selected additional writings by the Justice, as a basis for a wide-ranging discussion about the Justice’s legal philosophy and jurisprudence. Topics will include (1) making clear what the Justice really meant by “textualism” and “originalism,” (2) the fundamental role that he believed courts properly play (and improperly play) in our democracy, (3) the allocation of power among Congress, the courts, and administrative agencies, and (4) the nature of the rule of law itself.

ADVANCED LEGAL TOPICS IV 774 – Depositions (3 hours)
In this course, you will develop the basic skills necessary to taking and defending depositions in a variety of contexts and engaging in negotiations for purposes of the settlement of litigation and “deal-making” in the non-litigation context through a combination of lectures, in-class demonstrations and team exercises. Students will be introduced to and expected to demonstrate deposition questioning techniques and strategies, deposition planning and organization as well as the skills and strategies which form the basis of effective negotiations. (2 credit).
ADVANCED LEGAL TOPIC VI 776 – Trial Practice: Real Problems in Civil (3 hours - Skills)
The purpose of this course is to help the student prepare for civil practice in Mississippi. The course will focus on important Mississippi cases that are often cited and that routinely present problems for legal practitioners. We will start at the beginning of a case and walk through critical points in Mississippi civil practice.

This is a discussion class. Each student be asked to read a number of Mississippi cases. We will discuss and analyze why the case was decided the way it was (the strategy implemented) and consider alternative outcomes (what could have happened with a different legal strategy). The goal is to give the student knowledge and confidence in how to litigate cases in Mississippi.

ADVANCED LEGAL TOPICS V 775 – Criminal Litigation (1 hour)
The course will provide students with hands on experience moving a criminal case through the judicial system. Students will learn how to make initial contact with an arrestee, interview a client, set bond, interview witnesses and law enforcement officials, conduct a preliminary hearing, determine possible defenses, draft and argue motions, and make a record for appeal.

ADVANCED LEGAL TOPICS II 777 – Mississippi Judicial Practice (2 hours)
